

ANS SERENITY

ANS Serenity Supplementation

A study by the American Psychological Association revealed that more than 40% of adults said they suffered from chronic stress. Over time, chronic stress may have a significant negative impact on the nervous, cardiovascular, respiratory, digestive, metabolic, and endocrine systems.¹ The core practice of traditional Chinese medicine is in the support of systemic imbalances rather than treatment of disease.²

ANS Serenity contains a proprietary blend of herbal extracts found in traditional Chinese medicine. This unique combination of extracts provides potent antioxidants and phenolic compounds known to support against the effects of stress on the body.³

Supplementing with ANS Serenity may include these benefits:

- Reducing the effects of the aging process^{*1}
- Help in supporting cardiovascular health^{*3}
- Promote cognitive performance and brain health^{*4}
- Support sleeping habits and patterns^{*5}

How ANS Serenity Works

The proprietary blend of herbal extracts in ANS Serenity are individually recognized in traditional Chinese medicine as potent antioxidants and phenolic compounds.^{6,7,8}

The selected herbal extracts have a high medicinal value in traditional Chinese medicine due to their ability to promote healthy oxidative stress in the body.^{*1} Antioxidants also play a critical role in reducing free radical damage that is at the root of a wide range of ailments.^{*6}

Chronic stress can potentially lead to serious conditions with negative impacts on the nervous, cardiovascular, respiratory, digestive, metabolic, and endocrine systems.⁸ Supplementation with ANS Serenity may help promote a wide range of chemical reactions in these systems due to the identified phenolic compounds and antioxidant properties that work to support stress response.^{*7}

Why Use ANS Serenity?

Research cited herein suggests that the proprietary herbal blend in ANS Serenity provides phenolic compounds and antioxidant properties to support stress response.^{5} Clinical research shows that managing the body's stress response is critical for overall health.^{} Supplementation with ANS Serenity can help promote antioxidant activity that may support overall health.^{*9}
